

GROUP MEMORY GAME

Directions: Cut out the virtues and have every child pick one out of a box. Ask the group to sit in a circle and take turns using their name and following the pattern: "Mason came to school, he brought love" using the virtue they picked. Each child will also repeat everyone's virtue before them. For example, the second person would say, "Lua came to school, she brought love and kindness." The third would say, "Afia came to school, he brought love, kindness, and patience." This is a fun memory game that will also get children familiar with the names of different virtues.
